

CHANGING LIVES

Women in Aviation India has been working relentlessly to create a more inclusive aviation world by empowering the next generation. Over the last 10 years, we have meaningfully touched the lives of thousands of young girls and women in schools and colleges across 35 cities in India. We are delighted to share that a batch of outstanding students from the participants of our outreach programs were conferred scholarships and have successfully completed courses in aviation, and today several are gainfully employed in the travel & aviation sector. Among these inspiring journeys is the success story of Ms. Muskan, whose dreams took flight through our initiatives.

Ms. Muskan

My journey to a career in aviation was not a childhood dream but a path discovered through exploration and opportunity. As a high school student, I grappled with indecision about my academic and professional future, unsure of which stream to pursue in my +2 or what to study in college. Seeking clarity, I frequently consulted my teachers, whose diverse perspectives offered varied suggestions but little certainty. A pivotal moment came when my school organized a visit for female students to Spice Jet's office for a workshop organized by Women in Aviation India. There, I discovered the vast scope of the aviation industry, far beyond the roles of pilots or air hostesses. The experience opened my eyes to numerous career opportunities within the sector. The following day, we were asked to complete a form expressing why we wanted to join the aviation industry. Unbeknownst to us, this was a competition. To my surprise, I was selected as a recipient of the Young Aviation Aspirant Award, which included a scholarship for a combined air ticketing course provided by Women in Aviation India. This course was transformative, giving me a clear goal and direction. Today, I am proud to work as an air ticketing agent for Bird Travels with Thai Viet Jet Airlines. I am deeply grateful to WAI for guiding my career onto the right path and to Bird Group for this opportunity.